

Redundancy where payment is not made by the Department of Employment Affairs and Social Protection.

This issue arose in ADJ-00021489. In that case the employee issued the claim but named the employer as the respondent. They did not name the department. The Adjudication Officer therefore dismissed the claim as the department had not been named.

It is vital in such cases where the department do not pay out that firstly they are notified of matters and secondly that after notifying them that they are named in the proceedings.
